

Letter from the Publisher

By LeRoy Chatfield

Welcome to Syndic No.8, published December 1, 2012.

The 2013 publication schedule for Syndic Literary Journal will be as follows: Syndic No.9 will be published on June 1, 2013 (the submission deadline is: May 1). Syndic No.10 will be published December 1, 2013 (the submission deadline is November 1)

Each issue will be capped at 40 chapters so early submissions are highly recommended!

Our current issue, Syndic No.8, is dedicated to Internet Design Artist, Jennifer Szabo. The first thing to know about Jennifer is she is a web tech whizz kid! But even more important than that, she is an artist.

There would be no Syndic Literary Journal without Jennifer Szabo. She designed the website and built the multimedia internet platform to house and operate it. Then step-by-step, as patient as an older sister can be, she tutored me – the publisher – how to create chapters, how to manipulate and exhibit photographs, how to record authors, how to upload all this literary material to our website, and finally the last step: how to publish it on the internet.

Now - lo and behold ! - I am able to create 97% of each issue, leaving some web tech details associated with the final publishing process to Jennifer. Oh yes! In the creation of each issue, a few tech glitches always rear their head and even though Jennifer lives 600 miles away in Las Vegas, she is available 24/7 to walk me through them.

Authors and artists of all stripes – regardless of continent or country - need their own Jennifer Szabo to present and showcase their work. Trust me!